

Tamalpais Transportation Improvements
Project Segment on GGNRA Trail in Tennessee Valley
Scoping Comment Card

Please Provide Us Your Comments

The National Park Service is coordinating a planning initiative with the County of Marin and Caltrans to construct a two-mile trail connecting the Mill Valley-Sausalito multi-purpose path with Tennessee Valley and the Golden Gate National Recreation Area (GGNRA). The project also involves reconstructing the Highway 1 bridge over Coyote Creek. To simplify the environmental review process the three agencies have decided to coordinate and prepare a single environmental review document --- a combined Environmental Impact Report and Environmental Assessment (EIR/EA).

The County of Marin conducted scoping for this project in Fall 2000 under its requirements with the California Environmental Quality Act. Approximately 70 public comments were received at that time. The scoping meeting tonight is held by the National Park Service, Golden Gate National Recreation Area, to satisfy its requirements under the federal National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

Although the combined EIR/EA will address the entire trail construction, GGNRA's participation in this project primarily involves the three-quarter mile segment of the proposed, new trail that would be constructed on GGNRA property in Tennessee Valley. The National Park Service is primarily concerned with the trail segment proposed for construction within its boundary.

Your comments, recommendations and any information you would like to share are very important to us.

Here are questions to consider as you review the presentation:

- Are there alternative approaches and ideas for accomplishing project goals?
- What specific, important issues (environmental, economic, etc.) should be addressed?
- Would this project affect how you use parklands?

If you do not wish to speak on the project, please fill out, or take this comment sheet and return it to the address listed below.
